INDEXING WITH TRANSLATION MODEL

FOR FEATURE REGULARIZATION

Abstract of the Disclosure

An audio indexing system including, in addition to a speech recognition subsystem for converting the audio information into a textual form and an indexing subsystem for extracting the features to be used for searching and browsing, a statistical machine translation model, trained on a parallel or comparable corpus of automatically and byhand transcribed data, for processing the output of the speech recognition system.